Dear Sir:

I have been regularly receiving each successive copy of "Broadcasting Stations of the World, Long and Medium Wave According to Frequency" from your office for the last 3 years. For the previously received copies I wish to thank you as they have helped me tremendously especially since living out here on West Coast. However, I have just noticed that the latest copy I have is dated December 1st, 1946! I wonder if this is your latest edition or has there been another one issued since? If so, would your office please mail to me your latest copy? I've just completed erecting a new antenna system and with my Hallicrafter-SX28 I expect to reach out over the Pacific and would need all the latest information on each frequency (B.C.B.) for identification.

Thanking you in advance,

I remain,

/s/
